INTIMATION.

We have lately added an important branch to our business, viz., manufacturing on our premises gold chains and jewellery of pure Indian gold, by skilled European workmen, therefore giving the fine finish of Western workmanship, better value in gold, and saving the heavy loss by exchange, duty, &c., which have to be charged on articles of this description imported from Europe. Our prices for this description of goods will be found lower than any firm in India.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

THURSDAY EVENING, MAY 27.

The London telegrams of yesterday quote Consols and French Rentes unchanged, as also are the values of Indian Government Securities.

In the London General Produce Markets Coffee and Cocoanut Oil are at last prices, and in Metals no further decline is reported.

The Manchester Market for Piece Goods yesterday was quiet but steady. In Liverpool the Cotton Market was dull, at a decline of 1-16d. per lb. all round, the day's sales amounted to 7,000 bales, of which 1,000 were on Specie and for Export. Although when last mail left Home the idea was prevalent that the estimates of the new American crop had been exaggerated, there is no doubt that these are still affecting the Liverpool market, and that a very large yield is still looked for. Just at present our own shipments are telling on the market, but as we may expect the moonsoon in the course of the next few days, these will cease to have any effect shortly, and it is to Manchester and American news that we must look after the present month.

The New York telegrams of yesterday still quote ready Mid.-Uplands at 11¼ cents. per lb. and Futures at 11·71 against 11·70 cents. on the previous day.

The Receipts at the U. S. Ports compare with those of the past two years as follows :—

	1880	1879	18/8
Tuesday's Receipts	5,000	2,000	3,200
Five days' "	16,000	11,000	13,100
Total since 1st Sept.....	4,719,000	4,378,000	4,154,300

At the usual Weekly Biddings for Council Drafts in London yesterday the full amount of 35 lakhs was allotted at an average rate of 1s. 8d. per Rupee, tenders at which received 81 per cent., the amounts allotted were Rs. 2,520,000 to Calcutta, Rs. 10,000 to Madras, and Rs. 970,000 to Bombay. The amount to be allotted next week is again 35 lakhs.

Bar Silver in London is still quoted by Reuter at 52s. 1-16d. per oz. Shipments are advised of £40,000.

STERLING EXCHANGE here to-day has again been steady for Bank Paper, but Mercantile Bills have been negotiated 1-32d. below the opening rates. From Calcutta quotations are unchanged and are based on demand Bill drafts at 1s. 8 1-16d. per Rupee. We quote :—

Bank Bills, on demand .....1s. 8 1-32d.		per Rs.
Do. 3 months' sight 1s. 8 5-32d.
Credits 3 do. ...1s. 8¼d.		"
Documents 3 do. ...1s. 8 9-32d.		"
Francs 3 do. ...2·13¾		"

On Calcutta rates are unchanged at Rs. 99¾ and 100 1-16 for 60 days' sight and demand drafts.

GOVERNMENT PAPER.—The market is firm. Rates are nominally Rs. 94½ for Fours and Rs. 101½ for Fours-and-a-half, but business has been checked, as sellers are holding for higher rates.

SHARES.—The market keeps steady. The demand chiefly runs in Land and Spinning and Weaving Companies Shares, which are generally higher.

COTTON.—There has again been very little doing here to-day, and owing to the further decline in home quotations, buyers have been willing to accept Rs. 3 to Rs. 4 per candy below yesterday's rates without, however, leading to much business. Yesterday's receipts were 18,010 bales, making a total of 47,727 bales for 5 days. We quote :—

Good M. G. Broach..... Rs. 228	ready.
" Dholleral ..... " 207
F. G. F. " ..... " 198
Good Oomrawuttee..... " 206
G. F. Compta ..... " 185

LINSEED AND RAPESEED are unchanged at Rs. 6-6 and Rs. 5-15 per cwt.

FREIGHT.—Keep very quiet, with rates offering for Liverpool via Canal at 32s. 6d. per ton, and via Cape at 42s. 6d., for ready and 41s. 3d. for early June shipment, Continental rates are unchanged.

PIECE-GOODS.—There is a somewhat steadier feeling in the Market, but dealers show little inclination to anticipate their requirements.

COALS.—The Market is steady. The sale of a cargo of Cardiff to arrive, via Canal, is reported at Rs. 18 per ton, and a small lot of Lairds Welsh Hartley by the same route at the same rate.

The Bombay Gazette

FRIDAY, MAY 28, 1880.

SIR GARNET WOLSELEY is the Inevitable, as Marshal Ney was the Indefatigable. In a month he will take the command in Afghanistan "if the settlement is still incomplete." General Stewart has got thirty days to crush the Afghan resistance, and Mr. Lepel Griffin to effect a durable peace ; if the task be not achieved by that time they must go their ways and Sir Garnet Wolseley will arrive. It is strange how this officer invariably comes to the front to put an end to other people's campaigns and pluck the laurels which seemed destined for other brows. Even his most enthusiastic admirers—and he counts Archibald Forbes amongst the number—cannot point to anything which he has done that any one of a score of British generals would not be capable of doing without an extraordinary exertion of intellect or energy. He has never been tried in real war, never been pitted against either troops or a commander sufficiently instructed to prefer pipeclay and lace to tattoo and war paint. But we all feel by instinct that he is a great general, and he shares the confidence which the British Government and the British people invariably place in his capacity and fortune. He believes in himself, and we all, or most of us, believe in him too. The Afghans, let us hope, will share in the generous confidence which all right-thinking people feel in his star. If they do, in a month after he has set foot in Kabul there will be peace. If they do not, why then we suppose there will be war. With men and money Sir Garnet Wolseley can subdue Afghanistan and annex it to the Empire. So could Sir Donald Stewart or Sir Frederick Roberts. The work would be costly to us, and to the Afghans bloody, but it could be done, and the Afghan difficulty would disappear as the Sikh difficulty disappeared. But is the present Government prepared for this solution of the problem ? Even if it were, is it not morally bound by the asseverations of its members while leading the Opposition against Lord Beaconsfield's Government ? Even if prepared to assume entire freedom of action on this matter and to deal with existing complications without any reference to the declarations and denunciations of the recent past, would the constituencies which have pronounced so decisively against the Afghan policy of Lord Beaconsfield's Government tolerate any disposition on the part of the present Government to adopt that policy and give it its one logical issue—annexation ? The thing is not to be thought of. The new Government, strong as it is, could not even if so disposed, do what Lord Beaconsfield's Government was afraid to do, though it longed to do it. The fact that Mr. Gladstone has been obliged to yield to Radical pressure, directly and openly applied, and recall Sir Bartle Frere from the Cape for precipitating the Zulu war, shows the nature and strength of the influences which his Government has to obey. For ourselves, we have always considered that Sir Bartle Frere's conduct in forcing on the Zulu war in the teeth of the express orders of the Home Government, was inexplicable and inexcusable. Why the Government, whose orders he deliberately declined to act upon, permitted him to remain in office a day has never been satisfactorily explained. It was said that the headstrong High Commissioner had secret instructions from Lord Beaconsfield himself which emboldened him to disregard the official instructions conveyed to him by the Colonial Secretary. This, of course, would account for the fact that not even the disasters which resulted from the precipitate declaration of war shook Sir Bartle Frere in his office. Still, as the Government which he ostensibly defied did not remove him, and as Mr. Gladstone through feelings of old friendship resolved not to rake into the circumstances of an offence which had been condoned, we should have been willing to see this old Anglo-Indian allowed to fulfil his time. But the Radicals think otherwise, and in a Round Robin they have made Mr. Gladstone aware that their views on this subject are not to be ignored. Sir Bartle Frere is to be recalled. This measure stamps the Liberal chiefs as decisively and even vindictively hostile to the so called "Imperial" policy of the late Government, and it is useless to discuss further what must be the nature of the settlement to be effected in Afghanistan, either by the politicals and generals now on the spot, or by the modern Mars who will supersede them in a month, if they have by the end of that time left anything worthy of such a deus ex machinâ. The only thing to be done is to withdraw from the country as soon as the summer heats are sufficiently abated to permit the troops to march down the passes. Whatever chief the Afghans prefer they may try ; if he proves competent he will eventually do what Dost Mahomed did—make his position secure by coming to terms with his most formidable neighbours. If he be a weakling he will be speedily overthrown and some stronger man will take his place. The pretence that we should remain in Afghanistan until anarchy is replaced by order and settled government is unworthy of serious consideration unless we are to create a stable government and enforce order by making the country British. For if a chief arises who proves his mettle against us, we must, of course, crush him by our military superiority, and if he, like another Yakub, accepts our terms without fighting, he will lose the respect of his own countrymen and be displaced in the first tumult. We repeat, the presence of our troops in the country can only put an end to anarchy in one way—namely, by conquering and annexing it ; and now that it is conclusively settled by the result of the recent political changes in England conquest and annexation are no longer within the range of practical politics, the sooner our forces withdraw within our new frontier line, the sooner will the anarchy in Afghanistan come to a natural end. To us it must be a matter of very secondary interest whether Abdul Rahman or Musa Jan succeeds to the musnud which Yakub has lost.

THE MISSION TO ABDUL RAHMAN.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, MAY 27.

Further particulars have been received of Abdul Rahman's Mission, and they are believed to be reliable. A letter was presented by our representatives to the Sirdar in public durbar, and it is said to have contained an unfettered offer of the Amirship. The reason why the Sirdar did not reply at once is that he wishes to take the opinion of the chiefs on the offer being made to him. When the informant left his camp at Khanabad, two members of our Mission were shortly about to start for Kabul with the Sirdar's reply. This latter information, however, requires confirmation.

THE DESIGNS OF MAHOMED JAN.

Mahomed Jan is still wandering about in the Ghazni direction, trying to get the people to join in a general agitation in the interest of Musa Jan. Hitherto he has met with small success, though armed bands are waiting in some of the villages. Ghazni is quiet. Abdul Rahman's family, or that section previously with him, in Russian Turkistan, has now come to Samarkund.

DISSENSIONS AMONG THE KOHISTANIS.

The Kohistanis are quarrelling among themselves. Mir Butcha and Khwaja Jan are defending the cause of Khwaja Mir Syad Khan and are marching with levies to attack General Mir Syad at Istalif, who is supported by Gholam Kadar of Charikar.

General Roberts should be now near Maidan and will probably reach Sherpur at the end of the current week.

SIR GARNET WOLSELEY AND THE AFGHAN WAR.

SIR BARTLE FRERE.

Yielding to the pressure of a Radical round robin Mr. Gladstone is, says the Pioneer, about to recall Sir Bartle Frere from the Cape.

MESSRS. VOLKART BROTHERS have received the following telegram from their Cochin firm, despatched yesterday morning at 9 o'clock—"Monsoon burst rather mildly about one last night ; not much rain yet."

SURGEON-MAJOR C. JOYNT, M. D., at present Civil Surgeon at Surat, has been appointed Civil Surgeon at Poona, vice Surgeon Major Bruce, appointed Principal Medical Officer to the Reserve Division in Afghanistan.

ANOTHER Volunteer fête will be held at the Victoria Gardens on Saturday evening, and we hope it will prove as successful as the first. Again there will be a most attractive programme. Mr. Dave Carson's and Miss Clara Stanley's combined companies will give a capital entertainment and there will be more music, dancing, fireworks and illuminations.

MR. KHARSEDJEE NASERWANJEE SERVAI, Acting Superintendent in the Revenue Department of the Secretariat, has been appointed Licence Tax officer for Bombay, with effect from the 1st June next, vice Mr. Dossabhoy Framjee, C.S.I., who reverts on the Magisterial Bench as Second Presidency Magistrate, exercising supervision, however, as occasion may require, over the Licensing Department. Mr. Servai has been in the Secretariat for the last ten years, during which period he has gained considerable experience in revenue matters. Mr. Ryan, who has been acting as Third Magistrate, will, on the 1st instant, revert to the Secretariat as Assistant Secretary in the Political and Secret Departments.

THACKER AND COMPANY, Limited, have, during the second year of their existence ending with the 30th ult., done satisfactory business. After certain deductions, a nett profit of Rs. 17,126 has been made, out of which a dividend of 12 per cent. was declared at the meeting held yesterday. A reserve fund of Rs. 12,784 has already been formed, to which the directors intend to add further sums, and by degrees to purchase Government paper as spare funds become available, and so form the nucleus of such a cash reserve fund as will in time become a substantial guarantee of the value of the company's property. The thanks of the shareholders are due to Mr. N. Randle, the secretary and manager, for the satisfactory result of the past year's business.

AT the invitation of Sir Jamsetjee Jeejeebhoy, Bart., some of the principal native citizens of Bombay assembled yesterday afternoon at "Mazagon Castle" to meet Mr. Alexander Rogers, late senior Member of the Council of His Excellency the Governor of Bombay. There was a large attendance of representatives of different sections of the native community. Mr. Rogers having arrived at the bungalow at half-past 5 p. m., was cordially received at the landing by Sir Jamsetjee, the Hon'ble Mr. Morarjee Gokuldas, C. I. E., and others, and was conducted to a state chair in the upper hall, where Sir Jamsetjee read an address recounting the services done by Mr. Rogers to the natives of India, and bidding him a hearty farewell. Mr. Rogers briefly acknowledged his thanks, remarking that he had always had at heart the good of the people of this country ; and that he should in future be happy to do anything in their interest that it was in his power to do. Mr. Morarjee then introduced some of the gentlemen present to Mr. Rogers ; and the assembly separated. A report of the proceedings will be given in another issue.

THE actual loss on the Secretary of State's bills on India in the month of April last was Rs. 36,34,850, the selling price of the bills having averaged 1s. 7·94d. against the estimated price of 1s. 8d.

THE Governor of Bombay has been pleased to accept the resignation by the Hon'ble Mackintosh Balfour of his office as an Additional Member of the Council of the Governor of Bombay for making Laws and Regulations.

THE Bombay Government Gazette notifies that the Governor of Bombay has been pleased to accept the resignation by the Hon'ble Magnus Mowat of his office as an Additional Member of the Council of the Governor of Bombay for making Laws and Regulations.

THE Pioneer hears that a Mr. Bloemink, a clerk in one of the Government Offices at Simla, has been the lucky drawer of the favourite in the Umballa lottery this year. He sold his chance to a small confederacy for Rs. 20,000, with the understanding that if the horse won he was to have Rs. 20,000 more.

THE Indian Daily News :—With reference to the late fire at Colaba, the Bombay papers suggest the formation of a Bombay Fire Brigade. The wonder naturally is, how such a matter as this has escaped attention so long, especially as the people of Bombay are, as a rule, never backward in showing public spirit.

THE Levant Herald is in trouble again. After passing through various phases of suspension, the journal in question was finally suppressed. In due time, however, it rose again as brisk as ever. The Turkish authorities apparently do not intend to miss the mark this time, for they have gone to the fountain-head, and have seized the proprietor and put him in prison, where he will probably remain until the Turks require his services to help them to obtain another loan.

WITH reference to a Government Notification dated 8th December 1879, the Governor in Council has been pleased to nominate Mr. J. N. Graham as President of the Melbourne International Exhibition Committee in Bombay, vice the Hon'ble M. Mowat, resigned. It is officially notified that the Governor of Bombay has been pleased, in accordance with the provisions of Section 29 of "The Indian Councils Act, 1861," to nominate James Noble Graham, Esq., to be an Additional Member of His Excellency's Council for the purpose of making laws and Regulations only.

THE "unco guid" in the Inverness Free Presbytery are greatly alarmed at the appointment of Lord Ripon to the Indian Viceroyalty. They met the other day and had a very animated but not very charitable discussion upon the subject. One horrified speaker referred to the appointment as a "dreadful one," and a Dr. Mackay informed the world that it "irritated him." Finally the Presbytery decided to send to the Cabinet a communication to the effect "that the Presbytery strongly disapproves of the appointment of the Marquis of Ripon, a Roman Catholic and a recent pervert from Protestantism, to the office of Viceroy of India."

THE Government of India has sanctioned the payment to Sergeant Veal of Rs. 699 as compensation for property lost in the wreck of the Vingorla. The following is appended to the sanction :—It is Excellency in Council is not prepared to admit that a public officer is entitled to compensation for loss of property caused by an accident of this kind because such accident may have happened to him while he was employed in the service of the State. The Government cannot guarantee its officers against every loss which they may suffer while in its service, and in future compensation should not be given to public officers for accidental losses of their property."

SAYS the Pall Mall Gazette :—Neither the appointment nor the report of the Select Committee can affect the question of the fitness of a person holding and proclaiming Mr. Bradlaugh's opinions to be a member of Parliament. It is further certain that the oath itself can practically avail little for the purpose of excluding them, as may be seen from such examples as Sir William Molesworth, Mr. Grote, Mr. Mill, and many more who did not care to conceal their religious views. It is not a test such as the oath of abjuration was to Roman Catholics or even, as all the world knows, not excluding Sir Henry Wolff, such as a ham sandwich would be to persons of a more ancient faith.

How people's opinions will differ! The other day we reproduced a solemn declaration from a weekly contemporary that Victor Hugo's latest poem was inspired by the demon. And here is M. About who declares that the poem resembles "a purple velarium over the quadruple colonnade of a colosseum"—a thing which no demon in his senses would ever have suggested :—"Religion and Religions." The title supplies in three words a resumé of the book. Victor Hugo is the superb and disdainful enemy of all mythologies, but he remains a sincere deist and ardent spiritualist. God and the Soul fill the vast and splendid universe from which he has driven idols and priests and their worshippers. The form of this poem is large, etoffee, a little flottante at times, but flottante like a purple velarium over the quadruple colonnade of a colosseum.

THE Government Meteorological report dated May 21st states that the barometer is again falling in Bengal, the North-Western Provinces, and the Punjab, and rising in Bombay and the Central Provinces ; most so in Sind. In Madras the changes are varied. The winds are somewhat more westerly, and west winds prevail everywhere south of the Ganges ; and in the Bay of Bengal, excepting at False Point, from east they have shifted to between south and south-west. The temperature is rising at most stations, and the skies are clearing. Rain continues to fall in Burma and Assam, and Hazaribagh, Darjeeling, Simla, Bangalore, and Cochin report slight showers ; but elsewhere the weather is fine. The monsoon was not on the 21st reported from Colombo or Cochin.

A DEPUTATION, consisting of the mayor, aldermen, and several members of the corporation of Ripon, waited upon the Marquis of Ripon on May 6th, and presented him with an address of congratulation on his appointment to the office of Governor-General of India. The deputation was introduced by Mr. Goschen. The marquis, in reply, expressed deep regret at having to be temporarily separated from those in whose midst he had spent the greater portion of his life, and said he was aware the position he had been appointed to was one of great responsibility, and that his own shortcomings were so great that he feared he could not adequately discharge the duties of his office. He could only do so by humble dependence on a higher power for guidance, and in this spirit he trusted it would please God in His mercy to enable him to do his duty.

THE Daily News' correspondent in the Turcoman country says that the difficulties in the way of the Russian expedition this year seem to be steadily accumulating, and that not the least among them is the fact that during the ensuing operations there is no hope of obtaining grain supplies from Persia. A famine is threatened there, and the price of cereals has increased so enormously that the army contractors refuse to buy the limited quantity offered for sale. The Russians would find it cheaper to bring their own corn from the interior of their own country than to purchase it from the Persians or Turcomans. The correspondent says he is more than ever convinced that if, as is highly probable, victory should crown the Russian standards in the next general action, we shall hear no more about Merv and contiguous Russo-English frontiers.

THE progress of events in Eastern Europe is not stayed, says the Pall Mall, because the Liberal party has returned to power in England. All the anarchical elements which have been with difficulty kept under for some time past are having free play. What will be done with reference to Albania is now the most important point. There, it is clear, we have another nationality putting in a claim to autonomy ; and already doubt is felt at Berlin and Vienna as to how this new ebullition is to be met. The Albanian League did not figure in the calculations of the Berlin Congress as a rising Power to be dealt with at the council-table. Yet Albania has as much claim to consideration as Montenegro, and the movement at present in progress will test the capacity of Austrian statesmen for handling the difficulties which they have done so much to stir up on their frontier. That Austria would see an Italian Prince—as is now the talk—placed on an Albanian throne without serious resistance is scarcely probable. In all the various phases of the Eastern Question the point that Austria means, if she can, to obtain possession of Salonica should never be left out of account, nor that her ambition is directly fostered by Germany. This being so, it is easy to see that any admonition to Austria to abstain from further advance to the south is not likely to be received with favour either by Baron Haymerle or his main supporter, Prince Bismarck. The question then arises as to how far the two Germanic Powers have made up their minds to carry out a programme of partition should the Berlin Treaty miscarry ; and to that question an early answer will be rendered necessary by the operations of the Albanian League.

A PROPOSAL has been made to the Secretary of State for India, by Messrs. McCorquodale and Co., to erect a mill in India for the manufacture of paper made from jute, and to contract for the supply and printing of the same in such forms, &c. as may be required, provided a sufficient inducement be offered to them to undertake its manufacture in India. This paper, Messrs. McCorquodale and Co. state, to have been used for many years in connection with some of the principal railways, and it was, some three years ago, through the influence of Mr. Rowland Winn, M. P., adopted by H. M.'s Stationary Office, thus effecting a considerable annual saving by the change. They add that the mill which they would erect could also produce other descriptions of paper now purchased in England for use in India. After due enquiry of experts and officials, the Secretary of State informed Messrs. McCorquodale and Co. that the attention of the Government of India has recently been directed to the importance of obtaining, if possible, in India paper of local manufacture for official use. In the event, therefore, of additional paper mills being established in India by any competent manufacturers, he said that the Government of India would no doubt be prepared to extend their local purchases of such papers, provided that in quality and price it did not compare unfavorably with imported supplies. The Secretary of State added that if Messrs. McCorquodale and Co. were desirous of prosecuting this matter further, it would be more convenient that they should address the Government of India direct, by whom all contracts for local supply are arranged, and it would assist in the consideration of their proposal, if they were able to state, at least approximately, the weight, quality, and probable price of the paper which they would propose to supply.

THE DERBY.

The Duke of Westminster's ch c Bend Or, by Doncaster—Rouge Rose, 8st. 10 lbs. (yellow ; black cap) ...F Webb ... 1
G. F. Baker's b c Robert the Devil, by Barbican.—Oast Off, 8st 10 lbs. white, sky blue belt and cap)..... T Cannon... 2
Prince Soltykoff's ch c, Mask, by Carnival—Meteor 8st 10 lbs (pink ; black cap) ..... Rossiter... 3

The betting on the 25th was telegraphed by Reuter as 2 to 1 against Bend Or, 7 to 1 Robert the Devil, 8 to 1 Muncaster, 10 to 1 Von der Tann, 14 to 1 Apollo, 20 to 1 Mask and Teviotdale.

Public form has been vindicated, and the first, second, and sixth favourites (at least such were their positions four and twenty hours before the race) have secured the first, second, and third places in the hundred and first Derby. As we remarked on Wednesday, the odds against the first favourite, as the first favourite, of pulling off the Derby is not nearly so great as generally believed, being but 11 to 4, 37 or 38 of them having won the race. On the other hand, 23 have started with odds of 20 to 1 or more against them, while four were not thought worthy of being named even in the betting. In 1791 Eager, in 1796 and 1797 Didelot and Fidget, and in 1845 Merry Monarch occupied the latter position, and the following comprise the 20 to 1 or longer odds division. Cardinal Beaufort in 1805, Pan and Pope in 1808 and 1809, Prince Leopold in 1816, Orlando in 1844, Ellington and Blink Bonny in '56 and '57, Kingcraft in '70 and Sir Bevys last year. 25 to 1 was laid against Dangerous in '33 and Daniel O'Rourke in '52, 30 to 1 against Noble in 1786, Lapdog in '26 and Amato and Bloomsbury in '38 and '39, 35 to 1 against Frederick in '29, 40 to 1 against Phosphorus in '37, 45 to 1 against Doncaster (the sire of this year's winner and of the second in the Two Thousand Guineas,) 50 to 1 against Azor in '17, Spaniel in '31, Little Wonder in '40, and Caractacus in '62, while against Mr. Chaplin's Hermit, a horse as warmly supported in the position of first favourite throughout the winter of '66 and '67 as was Bend Or last winter, the remunerative price of 66 to 1 was obtainable within ten minutes of his securing for the Lincolnshire squire his first Derby—a Derby which well nigh ruined the ill-fated Marquis of Hastings, the greatest plunger of the present generation.

We referred to the performances of each of the placed animals on Wednesday, and we do not, therefore, recapitulate them here. Bend Or has now run six times without once having his colours lowered, and has justified the confidence and pluck of his noble owner and breeder for whom he has now won the princely average of £2,000 per race, or £12,000 in all, which should be further increased to £18,000 or £20,000 before the season is over, if he retains his past and present form, for he is engaged in the Ascot Derby, St. James's Palace Stakes and Rous Memorial Stakes at Ascot, in the St. George and Knowsley Dinner Stakes at Liverpool July Meeting (where, however, he is pretty certain not to appear), in the Sussex Stakes at Goodwood, in the first Great National Breeders' Foal Stakes at Redcar, in the Ebor St. Leger and Great Yorkshire Stakes at York, in the St. Leger at Doncaster, in the Great Foal Stakes at Newmarket first October meeting, and in the Champion Stakes and Newmarket Derby at the Second October meeting at Head Quarters. Webb, who probably rode him, once before won the Derby on Bend Or's sire Doncaster.

Robert the Devil should be heard of again next Monday, for he is pretty certain to start a warm favourite on Sunday next for the Grand Prix, de Paris for which there are no less than 352 sub scribers, and with the son of Doncaster out of the way he should only have to defeat once again Prince Soltykoff's horse to be hailed the winner, for among the 248 French horses 104 belong to Englishmen and foreigners—no shining light has yet appeared. Robert is also engaged in the Midsummer Stakes at Newmarket July, in the Sussex Stakes at Goodwood, in the Egham Three Year Old Plate, in the Doncaster St. Leger, in the Great Foal Stakes at Newmarket, and in the Champion Stakes at the same place, in four of which he may again meet the victor of Wednesday.

Mask is very heavily engaged this year and is bound to do well for his Russian owner. Along with Mr. Brewer's colt he is ere this on his way across the Channel to take part in the Grand Prix de Paris. On his return he should be heard of at Ascot, at which meeting he is nominated for the Prince of Wales's Stakes, which he should win, the Ascot Derby in which Bend Or will have to give him 10 lbs., (unless he, the Russian colt, first takes the Prince of Wales Stakes,) in the Rous Memorial Stakes, and Hardwicke Stakes at the same place, in the Gratwicke Stakes, Drawing Room Stakes and Sussex Stakes at Goodwood, in the Great National Breeders' Foal Stakes at Redcar, in the Ebor St. Leger at York, in the St. Leger at Doncaster, in the Great Foal Stakes and 32nd Triennial Produce Stakes at Newmarket, First October, and in the Select Stakes, the Champion Stakes, and the Great Challenge Stakes at the Second October meeting.

We annex a list of the more recent winners of the Blue Riband.

In our review on Wednesday of the Derby runners we wrote "on public form Bend Or, Muncaster, The Abbot, Mask and Robert the Devil stand out as the most prominent performers of the 237 engaged animals and we prefer them in the order named." We might without egotism say "we may congratulate ourselves on the excellent "tip" we gave to our readers in having named all three of the placed horses in our selection of five for places, but we fear to do so after the amusement caused yesterday morning by the sporting prophet of our contemporary, who having taken the first and second favourites as his selection, congratulates himself "on the fact" of their being first and second in the race!

A GRIEVANCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—I see by to-day's paper that there is to be another al fresco entertainment at the Victoria Gardens. I trust the committee will take better care than last time in the arrangement of the reserved seats. Last week the reserved seats were a mere farce. The same numbers were sold to different parties. I had taken six seats and paid rupees eighteen, and when I arrived at the gardens I found some other people seated on these chairs, and they held reserved tickets marked with the same numbers and the same row as mine, although I had my numbers carefully marked off the plan when I took the tickets. When people buy reserved tickets they expect to get the chairs which they have reserved.

"EMPLOYED MEN" IN THE BRITISH ARMY.

THE numerical weakness of the force which paraded before the Queen at Aldershot the other day has attracted attention to the difference which exists between the paper strength of an English battalion and the number of men who actually fall in in its ranks when it is assembled for drill or for the practice of minor tactics. The total strength of the division at Aldershot is 10,644 of all ranks; and yet at the late review the number on parade was only 6,728. The sick of the division numbered 560, the men left on guard duty in the camp 217, while no fewer than 1,644 were employed on other duties. Altogether, therefore, it may be said that more than a third of the division was absent from the parade; although all officers' and mess servants, cooks, tailors, and shoemakers, orderlies, and so forth, who are, as a rule, excused from ordinary regimental drills, had been ordered to fall in for the occasion. When the number of these, and also of the men usually employed in every regiment on different fatigue duties is remembered some notion may be formed of the number who actually undergo military instruction day by day. The matter is in fact a very important one, and demands the serious attention of the higher authorities of the army, since experience has shown that it is their decisive interference only that can restrict within reasonable limits the baneful practice of employing a large number of men on duties which take them away from the drill instructor and from the practice of military exercises. Under the existing system of short service men remain only a comparatively short time with the colours; and if during this brief period they are continually employed on other than purely military duties, they cannot be accounted thoroughly trained soldiers when dismissed into the reserve. In France it has been found necessary to issue an order that no soldier shall be exonsed from drill or parade as an "employed man" save with the special sanction in each individual case of the officer commanding the army corps to which he belongs; and some order of the same kind certainly seems to be desirable in the English service also.—Pall Mall Gazette.

MR. FAWCETT ON THE INDIAN DEFICIT.

IN addressing his Hackney constituents on the occasion of his re-election, on May 7th, the Post Master General referred to the Indian budget blunder. He said—It would ill become me, even if I had the power, which I do not possess, of telling you what will be the future policy of the Government, but it does not need any official knowledge to know that one of the first subjects (considering the startling financial news which has arrived from India) which must engage the attention of the Government is the present condition of Indian finances. You, perhaps, have not forgotten that in the early days of January, from this very platform, Mr. Stanhope came down here and made an electioneering speech. Indian finances was then portrayed in rosy hues. Some there were who did not think the glowing accounts were so favourable. I was not in the possession of official knowledge, and therefore it was impossible to prove the inaccuracy of those statements, but I had my suspicion, and I know that the truth, sooner or later, asserts itself, and the latest news from India shows that the boasted surplus is an entire mistake, as the surplus in a single month has vanished into a deficit of four millions. At the time Mr. Stanhope made his speech, it was said Indian finance was now in such a condition that India was not only able to bear the cost of the Afghan war, but the authorities stated that they were most anxious to do it, and they even stated that India was better able to afford those expenses than England. But the expenses being borne by England and India jointly is not a question of financial necessity, but a question of justice, and therefore, in spite of this glowing account of Indian finance I determined to raise the question in the House of Commons, and about a week before the dissolution took place I brought forward a motion to consider the declaration made by her Majesty's Ministers that the Afghan War was an Imperial matter, and concerned England and India jointly, and that it would be unfair to throw the entire cost of the war on India. How was that met? It was met in this way. We were again told of the prosperous condition of Indian finance, and I was asked what would my constituents say if I asked them to pay for the war when India was in such a flourishing condition. I said, "I know what my constituents would think," and you know and said what you thought by returning me with a larger majority (cheers). In this debate, and in a letter which afterwards appeared in the papers, Mr. Gladstone, Sir G. Campbell, and other authorities on Indian matters, doubted the accuracy of the statement given us as to the cost of the war. But their ideas were laughed to scorn. Now, I will tell you something which will appear, I believe, when the official papers are published, that on the very day when the debate was taking place in the House of Commons a telegram was on its way from India to London, and it was received in London on the next day, completely casting to the winds this prosperity budget, and completely destroying the boasted surplus. The debate took place on the 12th of March, and I believe it will be found that the telegram was received on the 13th. Why did not the Government come to the House of Commons and admit their error? They did not do this because there was an appeal to the country to be made, and they allowed the elections to go on without any suspicion being entertained that the finances of India were in an unsatisfactory condition when I believe that I shall be able to prove beyond the possibility of dispute that ten days before the dissolution was announced they had in their possession information which conclusively showed that this surplus did not exist, and that instead of a surplus there was a deficit of between three and four millions. This is a subject which must be closely and searchingly investigated. But, now, some people have said, "Oh? there was a general election pending, and the whole thing was concocted." I never like to attribute bad motives to my opponents, and I won't do so now. I will not suppose there was any exercise of intentional concoction, but looking at the subject in the most charitable manner possible, there has been incompetency displayed on behalf of those responsible for Indian administration which must be carefully investigated, and those guilty of it must be peremptorily called to account. I said that this question of the expense of the Afghan war was one that must be amongst the first to be dealt with by the present Government. Mr. Gladstone, Lord Hartington, and every member of the Government know the financial position of India. They have declared it was unjust to throw the cost of the Afghan war on India. If, therefore, Indian finances were as prosperous as they were two months ago represented to be, they were pledged to make some contribution on the part of England to India; but this pledge is now not an act of justice, it is obviously a necessity, when it is discovered that the war has cost twice as much as was represented. India has no means whatever, without some assistance, of meeting this serious deficit which has been discovered in her finances. In taking office not connected with India, I ought not, perhaps, to speak upon this subject. Now I wish to be entirely frank and outspoken on this point. Let me on this occasion, being the first time of seeing my constituents after my acceptance of office, unhesitatingly declare that no consideration whatever would for a moment have induced me to have taken office, or occupy any other position, if it caused me to abandon and relinquish the interest which I have long felt in the affairs of India (cheers). I may, perhaps, have to try to serve her in a different way; but having for about ten or twelve years, humbly but sincerely endeavoured to obtain for her better government, I cannot relinquish that task now; and no considerations whatever could induce me to do so (cheers). In saying this, let me in all sincerity congratulate the people of India in the fact that Lord Hartington has been appointed her Secretary of State (cheers). I don't like to compliment the noble lord on a public platform; and, indeed, I know no one who less likes compliments than does Lord Hartington. But, as a matter of common justice, I must say I believe that that common sense and sound judgment by which Lord Hartington is pre-eminently distinguished, are exactly those qualities which the Government of India most require at the present time. Perhaps I may be permitted to make this farther remark, that nothing could give me more pleasure than to avail myself of any opportunity I may have to render assistance—slight thought it may be—to Lord Hartington in the very difficult task which he has undertaken, and nothing could give me greater satisfaction than to think that I have afforded him any aid in his endeavours to place the finances of India upon a sounder and more satisfactory basis (cheers).
